

Title: API Standards for Gas Lift

Author(s): Greg Stephenson, Occidental

This presentation will provide the audience with an overview of the various API standards and recommended practices available for Gas Lift, along with their status and how to access them. Also included is a discussion of the similarities and differences between API and ISO standards, guidance on how to use the documents and information about upcoming revisions and new standards under development.